

Candidate Statement
Nicholas Skewes-Cox

Dear Ross Voter: I consider myself a relentless optimist, and I believe that the future is ours to define. As a new father, and as a member of a family with 90+ years of history in Ross, I commend all those who have worked to protect the unique character of our town. We need ideas to move us all forward at the same time as respecting the values that made this such a special place for families. For example, we now must grapple with how to handle issues such as Senate Bill (SB) 9 that could substantially affect single-family zoning. When we look at what other communities in Marin are doing with climate change, equity, and long-term sustainability, I see opportunities for Ross to lead. Change is inevitable, and it also represents an opportunity that can be beneficial to all.

I, Nicholas Skewes-Cox, want to be part of the solution. I humbly ask for your support, and express my gratitude to all those who exercise their voice through the democratic process. A vote for me is a vote for the fresh perspective that our community needs.
